The Inspiration

Have you ever wondered about your destiny, whether you have made the right choice or decision? You submit your petition to God but He does not seem to answer? After listening to the advice of a wise 'Uncle', the artist wants to show that no matter what choices we make, so long as they are in line with God's mission for us to further His Kingdom and bless others, they are good decisions. Many of us are mistaken that a Christian's life is restrictive but actually we are blessed with the freedom to choose our destiny. The painting depicts many pathways but they all point heavenwards. Along the way, there are road blocks but there is always a way out if we look towards God for direction as we live our lives.

The Artist

Abraham Koh Xin has been a member of Charis Methodist Church since birth. He serves in the Holy Communion Preparation team and contributes in small ways in church projects like the Joo Chiat ministry. Currently a student pursuing a diploma in Fine Arts at La Salle College of the Arts, he is glad to use his God-given talent to help raise funds for our church development.
